

REFILL CONTEXT

They work by creating refill plans and growing this campaign. The purpose of a refill program is to launch the campaign in your community by registering refill stations and cataloguing locations where people may get free tap water or buy without using plastic bags.

THE IMPLEMENTATION

National refill plan: A nationwide plan, such as Refill Wales, Refill Chile, or Refill Italy, represents the entire nation. These programs are sponsored, and they have a dedicated resource that coordinates the national programs in that nation and seeks to involve major corporations, chains, and transportation hubs there. To influence policy change or achieve waste and pollution reduction goals, they frequently collaborate with governments and take the lead on significant partners.

Local Refill plan: A local Refill Scheme is a smaller organization that advocates for refill in their community, such as a town, city, or region. You might be an enthusiastic environmental activist working for an NGO, a community group worried about litter in your region, or you might work for your local government and have goals centered around reducing waste in your city. Local Refill Schemes are managed by various organizations with similar motivations and passions.

IMPACT CREATED

They are not only powering the Refill Revolution and making refill and reuse options more accessible, but they also:

- Combat plastic pollution and waste reduction.
- Combat global warming,
- Make safe, clean drinking water available.
- Individuals and communities must be empowered.

Refill supports a number of global initiatives and commitments, such as the Sustainable Development Goals, the Circular Economy Global Commitments, the Drinking Water Directive, and national level commitments such as the Waste & Resources Strategy and the Plastics Pact in the United Kingdom.
